

Joel Hansel
United States Environmental Protection Agency
Region 4

Joel Hansel serves in the EPA Region 4 in many capacities. Of particular relevance to the discussions on mercury, he is the Region's Fish Advisory Coordinator, Regional Human Health Criteria Expert, and Water Quality Standards Coordinator. Mr. Hansel has a B.S. in biology with subspecialties in Human Physiology and Microbiology from the University of Akron (Ohio) and is currently completing a Master's of Public Health in Epidemiology and Environmental/Occupation Health from the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University.